Learn It And Speak It

(NAPS)—For students with a love of language, learning should be as enjoyable as curling up with a good libre. Teachers can help make a difference with their choice of bucher for the classroom.

For students, experiencing a foreign country can be almost as simple as cracking open a libre.

Experts agree that there's no better way to learn a language than by living in a country where that language is spoken. Fortunately, today's language textbooks, such as those published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston (HRW), give students the opportunity to experience another world and learn the language as if they were there.

The books have Internet links that give students additional resources. When students see the go.hrw.com logo, followed by a keyword, they can go to the Web site, type in the keyword and get more information.

The company also offers comprehensive, multimedia packages for middle- and high-school instruction in Spanish, French and German, as well as college-level Italian. CD-ROM tutorials for levels 1, 2 and 3 offer hours of interactive sessions, games and activities for students who need motivation and extra practice.

Holt, Rinehart and Winston, a Harcourt Classroom Education Company, is a recognized leader in secondary educational publishing. Since 1866, the company has been in the business of helping teachers teach and students learn.
